This 1.0 credit in-person workshop was developed for legal professionals, including social workers, as an intermediate level course. This training will focus on areas of social work with individuals in nonclinical, forensic practice. Identity formation for adolescents and the nuanced aspects of identity formation for adolescents of color will be described and discussed. This presentation will focus on transfer and youthful offender cases to provide examples of how it can be used in psychological reports and via testimony in court. Examples will be provided from the context of an evaluation of the client and as an educational expert.

OBJECTIVES:	As a result of attending this training, participants should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Describe identity formation for adolescents and the nuanced aspects of identity formation for adolescents of color.• Understand the role identity development plays in transfer and youthful offender cases.• Describe three applications of racial identity in criminal cases.
